

oh oh oh such grace

I remember the soldiers scoffed, Oh Son of God, why can't you save yourself?

I remember the darkened sky, forsaken cry, oh God where are you now...

I remember when the ground, shook with reverent fear
And the solemn thunder groaned for the world to hear

I remember the weight of death, his final breath, Father it is done

oh oh oh such love

I remember the hopeless grave, to death a slave, laid behind the stone

I remember the words he said, though three days dead, once again he'd rise

I remember their surprise at the empty cave and their feeble faith reprised when they saw his face

I remember she ran so fast, her joyful gasp, Jesus is Alive

oh oh oh such joy

oh oh oh such hope

oh oh oh such love

I remember...

I remember...

I remember...
